

CICM Credit Academy

Delivering recognised qualifications and learning for the credit profession.

The CICM Credit Academy's virtual classes and distance learning continue to provide a route to CICM qualification and learning for teams and individuals.

CICM Credit Academy Learning Packages: Your learning options in lockdown

The CICM Credit Academy delivers the full range of CICM qualifications, and our varied study options and packages mean we have the right route to professional qualifications for you and your teams.

"Due to my busy work life balance and remote home location the virtual learning classes suit my schedule perfectly."

Katya Law, Senior Sales Ledger Consultant, Experian

CICM Credit Academy Distance Learning Packages

The CICM Credit Academy offers a range of distance learning options to help you get credit qualified on your terms:

- Fit your learning around your work and home life
- Set your own pace of study
- Decide when and where you study
- Gain a CICM qualification from anywhere in the world
- Package includes support and textbooks
- NEW: take your exams from your home or office

Distance learning does not mean you have to study alone.

Our distance learning packages include home study supported by a CICM coach who will support your self-study, through to interactive, tutor led virtual classrooms, where you can benefit from the experiences and knowledge of your fellow learners.

"I have found this method of study to be very beneficial towards me obtaining the pass marks I have achieved already."

Which
qualification?

I have little experience in a credit and collections role, and need a basic introduction to credit (just started in credit or an apprentice)

I have been working in a credit related role for a while, and want to raise my profile and/or prepare for the next phase in my career

I have extensive experience in credit management and have already qualified to Associate level, or am already working at management level

I would prefer a scheduled plan of learning led by an expert tutor with active discussion, interaction and continuous support from my learning peers and tutor

I am self-motivated but like to have some feedback and interaction from a coach

I have no problem motivating myself to study and enjoy studying and working on my own

Your best option is CICM VIRTUAL CLASSES: Our 'gold standard' distance learning package, our Virtual Classes have the greatest success rate of all our home study packages. Your home study will be supported and led by one of our experienced CICM Tutors via a series of virtual classes and activities, which are interactive, challenging and fun

Start by looking at Home Study with Coach support. Giving you access to one of our experienced CICM coaches, this package includes the chance to gain feedback and ask questions as you work through your study textbook at home

Read up more about Home Study. By choosing this package, you will gain access to the resources and information you need to self-study for your exam/s, via one of our CICM published textbooks
